The four datasets (bullets 1-4) in the 11/25/15 email (Att. #4, email thread of 11/20/15 .) (As to this item, we do not seek client-identifying information); 5. Any explanation of the FSP task aging summary data provided by Maine via 11/6/15 email (Att. #5); 6. Any data provided by Maine per FNS's 10/28/15 request for specific monthly timeliness data (described in Att. #6, the 11/3/15 email). Based on recent information from the Maine agency, it is our understanding that the agency is providing data re timely processing (weekly or monthly compilations). 7. In addition, FNS's December 7, 2015 advance warning letter referenced multiple requests from FNS to Maine for data (and noted that the state provide "limited data" as part of the State PAR (see p 2 of Att. 1)). I request any such data from Maine from January 1, 2015 forward as well as any FNS assessment of the adequacy or inadequacy of such data.

I would like to obtain a history of states and, if possible, counties that received ABAWD time limit waivers from 1996-2015. Specifically, I would want to be able to tell when states and/or counties did not have the time limit for ABAWD participation in SNAP. While I have found reports such as the one linked below, I would like to obtain something similar for all years going back to 1996. Any electronic format is fine. http://www.fns.usda.gov/sites/default/files/snap/FY-2015-4th-Quarter-ABAWD-Time-Limit-Waiver-Status.pdf (Date Range for Record Search: From 03/16/2016 To 04/05/2016)

Here is a statement that was issued to reporters which you may have already seen. I don't think there is any other planned statement Did the DGAC write a letter to the editor? Update: The US Department of Health and Human Services has issued a statement about the BMJ article; "The British Medical Journal's decision to publish this article is unfortunate given the prevalence of factual errors. HHS and USDA required the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee to conduct a rigorous, systematic and transparent review of the current body of nutrition science. Following an 19-month open process, documented for the public on DietaryGuidelines.gov, the external expert committee submitted its report to the Secretaries of HHS and USDA. HHS and USDA are considering the Scientific Report of the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee, along with comments from the public and input from federal agencies, as we develop the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans to be released later this year." Please provide me with all records associated with the drafting and publication of the above HHS statement about the BMJ article. Records should include but not be limited to all e-mails to and/or from USDA nutritionist and any other USDA employees. Records should also include any documents that mention or discuss the alleged "factual errors" in the BMJ article. Records should include but not be limited to any e-mails that include the keywords BMJ

2016-FNS-04997-F	Spolum, Maren	7/27/2016	requesting is a government record. Recent litigation can help us clear up this question. The 8th Circuit Court of Appeals already ruled that FNS has been wrongly applying the law in citing Food and Nutrition Act, 7 U.S.C. § 2018(c) regarding this type of data request. I have printed out the ruling and included it in this letter. Additionally, I have highlighted key passages below: A Sioux Falls, South Dakota, newspaper called the Argus Leader (Argus) wondered how much money individual retailers received from taxpayers each year through the SNAP program, specifically requesting "yearly redemption amounts, or EBT sales figures, for each store participating in the program between fiscal years 2005 and 2010." Invoking the federal law meant to bring disclosure sunlight to the government bureaucracy, Argus requested this spending information from the U.S. Department of Agriculture under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). After an internal administrative appeal proved fruitless, Argus brought a FOIA suit in the District of South Dakota. The department moved for summary judgment, contending the information was exempt from disclosure under 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3)-known as FOIA Exemption 3- and 7 U.S.C. § 2018(c). Looking to legislative history and accepting the department's statutory interpretation, the district court found the spending information exempt from disclosure and granted the department's motion. Argus appealed the decision Concluding the statutory text plainly precludes the department from shielding the spending information under Exemption 3, we [the US Court of Appeals for the 8th Circuit] reverse Beneficiaries receive an electronic benefit transfer (EBT) card, which functions like a debit card. To use the card at a participating retailer

2016-FNS-05487-F	OConnor, Anahad	9/1/2016	Prior to 2016, the USDA hired Impaq international of Maryland to study food expenditure patterns among beneficiaries of SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program). USDA commissioned from Impaq a study examining point-of-sale (POS) food purchase data to determine what foods SNAP participants typically purchase and how these purchases compare to those made by non-SNAP households. The study provided detail on food expenditure patterns. As a reporter seeking to inform the public, I am requesting the following from USDA: 1. Copies of this study, its findings, and any related documents or data generated by Impaq as part of its research/study into SNAP purchases. This study on SNAP food purchases was commissioned by USDA prior to 2016. Impaq said in 2015 that it had completed the study and turned over its findings to USDA. Therefore I am requesting that the findings be provided to me as a reporter for newsgathering purposes that serve the public interest.
