

Whole grains make a difference.

Whole-grain foods help keep your heart healthy and are good for digestion and a healthy weight. Choose foods with “100% whole wheat” or “100% whole grains” on the label. Or check the ingredient list to see if the word “whole” is before the first ingredient listed (for example, whole wheat flour). If it is, it’s whole-grain.

How to Tell If It Is a Whole Grain?

Some foods that seem to be whole grains may not be, it’s important to know what to look for. Here are some tips that work:

- Choose foods that are naturally whole grains

Some foods are always whole grains, like oatmeal, brown rice, wild rice and popcorn.

- Check the information on the package

Buy bread, cereal, tortillas, and pasta with “100% Whole Grain” or “100% Whole Wheat” on the package.

Foods with the following words on the label are usually not 100% whole-grain products.

- |                        |                          |
|------------------------|--------------------------|
| ✓ 100% wheat           | ✓ Cracked wheat          |
| ✓ Multi-grain          | ✓ Made with whole grains |
| ✓ Contains whole grain | ✓ Made with whole wheat  |
| ✓ 7 grains             | ✓ Bran                   |

- Check the ingredient list: Take a few seconds to see if the food is made from whole grains. Look for the word “whole” before the first ingredient. Some examples of whole-grain ingredients include:

- ✓ brown rice
- ✓ buckwheat
- ✓ bulgur
- ✓ graham flour
- ✓ oatmeal
- ✓ quinoa
- ✓ rolled oats
- ✓ whole-grain barley
- ✓ whole-grain corn
- ✓ whole oats
- ✓ whole rye
- ✓ whole wheat
- ✓ wild rice

- Colors can be misleading. Foods like breads, pasta, rice, and tortillas that are dark in color may not be 100% whole-grain foods. And, some lighter color grain foods may be 100% whole-grain foods, such as “100% White Whole Wheat” bread. To make sure a food is a whole-grain food, check the ingredients using the tips above.
