

USDA Support for Food Banks

USDA is providing significant resources to food banks, supplementing the supplies they receive through donations and fundraising, to help them keep communities fed, healthy, and strong during COVID-19.

Donations Fundraising

Food Banks are private, non-profits that receive funds and donations from a number of different sources, in addition to USDA.

To learn more about FNS response to COVID-19, visit www.fns.usda.gov/coronavirus and follow us on Twitter at @USDANutrition.